Abdul Mukit - Learner on our Skills Bootcamp in Software Development programme

What was your background with Software Development?
None. I did computational Mathematics as part of my Mathematics degree, which had some basic coding, but that was 20 years ago.

Why did you enrol onto the Skills Bootcamp in Software Development?
I have always been fascinated by anything to do with technology and have previously worked in tech support. As Just IT were offering a free course on software development, I quickly jumped in to take advantage of such a great opportunity.

How was your experience with the Skills Bootcamp and what did you enjoy most?
I absolutely loved the whole 12 weeks. Yes it was challenging. Yes I had to put in endless hours after classes. But it is supposed to be challenging, and the extra hours spent were spent because I wanted to advance and solve the problems presented to me, find new solutions, improve my code and learn new techniques.

Would you recommend Skills Bootcamps in Software Development?
Yes, this is because:

1) The course is fantastic.

2) The teaching was great.

3) The teachers were amazing.

4) Everyone I came into contact at Just IT were awesome; Fran, Chris, Akbar, Abdul, Narayan, and everyone else.

5) The teaching was great.

6) I got to meet new people in my course who were amazing. We created a slack group and are planning to keep it running even though we have finished the course.

I am definitely recommending this course to anyone thinking about entering into this field. Be prepared though, it is an intensive course especially for people completely new to this field.
