

The world today is powered by data and organisations across the UK have come to rely on data-driven insights as a way to guide their organisational and service strategies. Our Data Technician Skills Bootcamps programme focuses on teaching the technical skills required for you to start your career in data and boost your employability skills.

Skills Bootcamp breakdown

Skills bootcamps are designed to help learners develop the digital skills that employers are demanding. Just IT are delivering Skills Bootcamps to develop the Data Technicians of the future, as part of a government initiative to tackle skills gaps across the country, enabling businesses to build a diverse and technically competent workforce.

Available to new and existing employees and created in part as a response to the pandemic, Skills Bootcamps are part of the Lifetime Skills Guarantee and Plan for Jobs. Previous experience isn't necessary, but you must have an active interest in working in data.

Eligibility

Skills Bootcamps are available to all adults, regardless of prior attainment aged 19+. Applicants must;

- Be living in England and either; employed, self-employed, career changers, returners to work or unemployed within the last 12 months.
- Have access to a reliable internet connection with a PC/ Laptop.
- Have the right to live and work in the UK.

The programme duration is 12 weeks.

The programme is free for all learners.

What you will learn

The programme will build technical knowledge and learning needed to start your career in data. This will include the following industry recognised certifications that top employers are looking for:

Azure

Power Bi

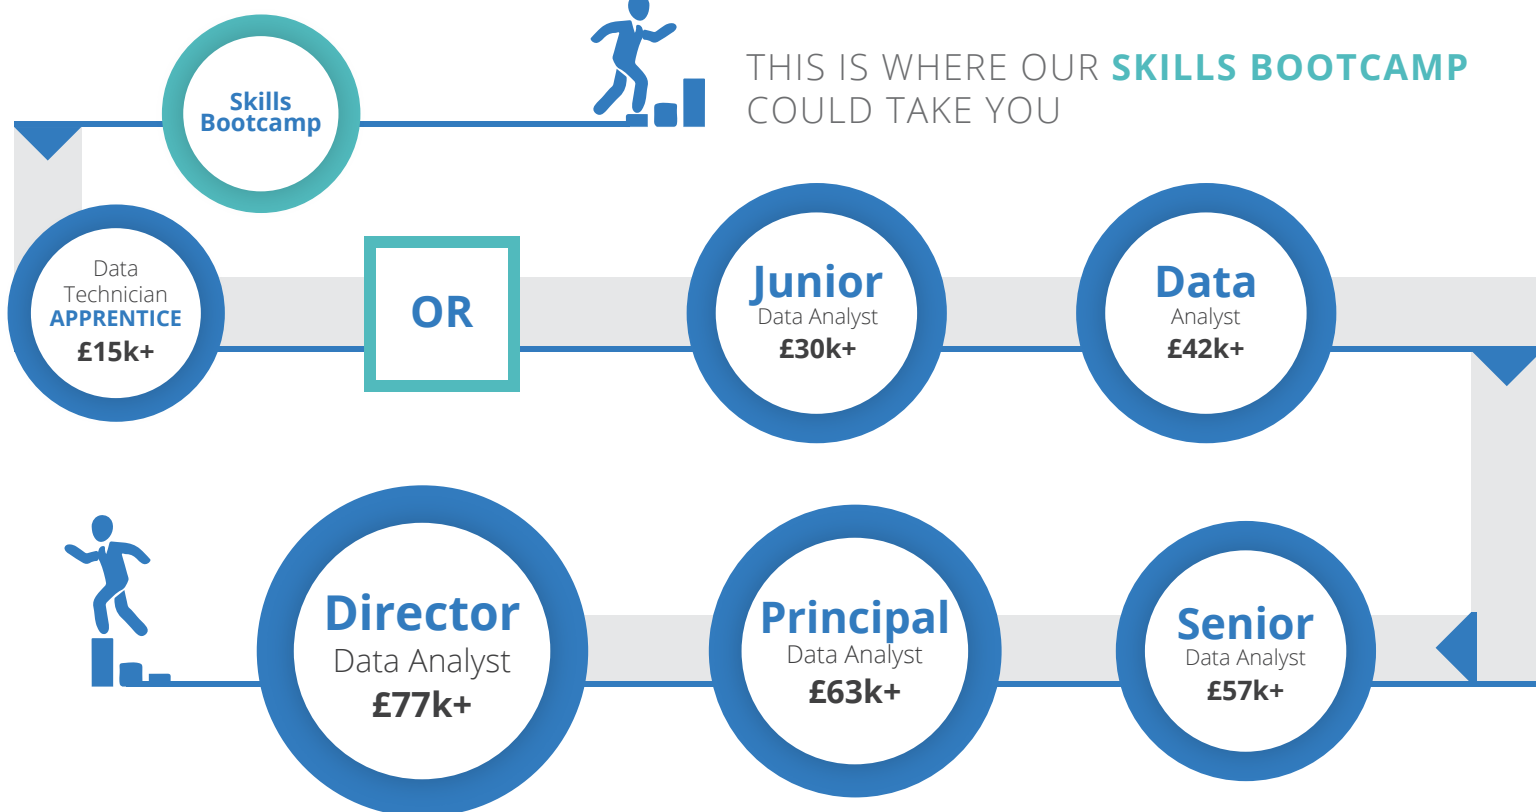

R Studio

Microsoft Excel

We'll also help you hone your soft skills, including communication, collaborative working, problem-solving and working to deadlines in an agile environment.

YOUR DATA CAREER STARTS HERE

Skills Bootcamp Success Story - Patricia Ranakoski Learner on programme & obtained a job with Just IT

“The skills I took from the bootcamp was very valuable to help me secure my first job.

I was also very impressed with the support I had from Just IT and they helped me a lot preparing for my interview.

I would definitely recommend Just IT to anyone looking into get into an digital career.”

“
The bootcamp helped me secure my new role
”

To register your interest in enrolling onto the programme, please email us via: hello@justit.co.uk